II

Basel II standards require uniformed reporting. An important part of supporting Basel II standards is collection and consolidation of relevant data.

Our solution imports data from different input data sources and consolidate them into the prescribed form.

Abraxas Basel II Data Processing is designed for collection, controlling, consolidation and transformation of relevant data from different data sources into central data storage.

Application imports data from different databases, transforms them into the prescribed form and exports the prepared data to defined output format. Our customers from a field of banking use such systems for preparing and loading data to their central processing unit.

Data output format is fully customisable.
